We thought for this first day cruise of 2017 it would be a good chance to try out some anchoring techniques. Whether anchoring is new to you or you've been doing it for years, a little extra practice never hurts. The plan is to leave late morning, set the hook, have some lunch and then enjoy an afternoon sail.

Don't feel like anchoring or want to come out later? Join us outside the breakwater around 13:00 near S mark for the afternoon sail.
